<People> Mr.Asaduzaman Md

Mr.Asaduzaman Md came from Jessore in Bangladesh, and now works at a clothing company in Japan. He majored in education and Japanese at the University of Dhaka. During his studies, he was chosen as a member for Nihongo Summit in 2006, and stayed in Japan for five weeks, which made him decide to go to Japan again. After graduation, he returned and studied at a Japanese university as an exchange student for a year and a half.

- Q: Could you introduce your mother country of Bangladesh?
- A: The land is one third the size of Japan with a population of 160 million. The population density is the world's greatest. We have four seasons, but the climate is subtropical so even in winter it's over eight degrees. Seventy percent of Bangladesh is swamp land. There are hurricanes and we often have floods. Principal products are rice and jute as well as spices and tea. Bengali is our official language, and English is our secondary.
- Q: Do you have any recommendations on what to see and do in Bangladesh?
- A: Cox's Bazar Beach near Chittagong is the longest beach in the world, and also the nearby St. Martin's island is a famous resort spot. In addition, Ahsan Manzil, a mausoleum to an emperor, is well worth visiting.
- Q: What do you think of Japan?
- A: My interest in Japanese came from watching Oshin, a TV drama. However, after coming to Japan, I found that everything was different, very modern; namely, what I saw with my eyes totally differed from what I saw on TV. I was also surprised at the high prices of commodities. The kind people and the safety were really attractive to me. As for the food, I love rice obviously. In addition, tempura, miso soup, karaage, and yakiniku are my favorite. However, I have some restrictions about food for religious reasons, so I cook my own most of the time.
- Q: Could you let me know about your goals in the future?
- A: I have acquired Bengali, English, Japanese, Hindi and Arabic. And I am challenging myself with Chinese now. I would like corporatize the company I'm currently working at in my home country. In the future, I hope to use my multi-language skills to broaden exchanges between Japan and Bangladesh, and serve as a bridge between the two countries.

Spring Outing Information and Great Spots in Himeji

At Himeji Castle, which is counted among the top 100 places in Japan for cherry blossoms, there are yet some little known spots, such as the cherry blossom avenue along the middle moat, aka "Nakahori".

① Northern middle moat in front of Nozato elementary school

On the north side of Himeji castle, there is a walking path with the earthen walls of Nozato Elementary School, followed by a long row of cherry blossom trees. With its quaintly paved roads it gives off the feeling of a castle town. The path continues to Shimizu Bridge beyond Shirakawa Shrine along the middle moat.

2 Row of cherry blossom trees along Ohno river

If you walk along the middle moat and cross Shirakawa Bridge to the right you'll find Fudouin Temple, and you can see beautiful cherry blossom trees on both sides of the river. You can also see fireflies here in early June.

③ Otokoyama Reservoir Park and Mizuo Shrine

If you go up the steep steps of Mizuo Shrine, you'll be greeted with a panoramic view of Himeji City. This is the only spot where you can view both big and small towers of Himeji castle end-on. You can also see the cherry blossom trees around the castle.

4 San-no-Maru Square ~ Senhime Peony Garden

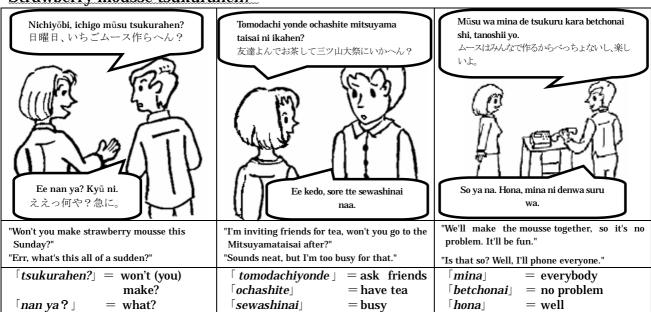

If you go up to the west from San-no-Maru Square, where the cherry blossom viewing festival is held, you'll reach Senhime Peony Garden. Big peony flowers start to bloom in the middle of April, the end of the cherry blossom season. The Musashino Palace and Mukou Estate were once here as well.
